

We Have a Roof - and the rains are starting

Contributed by Ron B
Wednesday, 31 January 2007

So we count ourselves lucky - if the rains had come sooner, the progress could have been delayed significantly. As it is, we have a predicted finish date of mid March which is about 6 weeks later than we had hoped. The panorama has been pieced together (imperfectly) from 4 shots. So there is some distortion, and the fence you see with double images on the left is really at right angles to the fence on the far right. This view is taken from along the beach to the east, looking west. And this one is from directly in front looking over the pool - which now has lights.